

A Thousand Words

by Frederick Wickert

This afternoon my wife and I attended a birthday party for a boy on his first birthday. I could write a thousand words to tell the story, but the pictures will speak for themselves.

